

MS08 VT08 FAQ Airport Safety v1 540

[MUSIC]

If you're traveling through the airport while pregnant the new airport security scanners where you stand with your arms raised have not been well studied in pregnant women however most experts would agree that they are safe. If it makes you feel uncomfortable you can decline.

So if you don't want to go through the metal detector you can discuss with the TSA agent an alternative pat-down to decrease your concerns of exposure to the fetus.

[End of recording]