

Your obstetric providers are concerned about all aspects of your health and that includes your physical safety.

If you do not feel safe in your home, if you feel like you are being spoken to in a manner that makes you feel unsafe, or if you feel like you are being threatened, it is really important that you share that with your provider.

There are resources available and we're here to help you.